

Instructions for Authors

1. General Information

The Journal of the Remote Sensing Society of Japan is a scientific research paper published by the Remote Sensing Society of Japan (RSSJ) in yearly volumes of five issues. Submitted papers must be scientific reports of original research written in English or in Japanese. Their essential contents must not have been published already, nor are they under consideration for publication or in press elsewhere. Submitted papers are reviewed and refereed. Basically, the first author should be a member of RSSJ. However, non-member submission is possible with a given page charge.

2. Scope

This journal covers the basic and applied studies on remote sensing and related research areas such as theories, concepts, and techniques for remote sensing as well as their applications to the earth, oceans, atmosphere, and space problems.

3. Types of paper

Original Full Paper, Original Short Paper, Review or Tutorial Paper

4. Preparation of manuscript

4.1. Formatting

- Manuscripts should be submitted by “TEXT” format electrical files.
- Approximately 52 characters per line, double spaced, single-column format.
- Final form of papers (after printed) will be approximately 52 characters by 50 lines in a column, double-column format, 250 mm by 175 mm in size.

4.2. Article structure

Divide your article into clearly defined and numbered sections. Subsections should be numbered 1.1 (then 1.1.1, 1.1.2, ...), 1.2, etc. (the abstract is not included in section numbering). Any subsection may be given a brief heading. Each heading should appear on its own separate line.

General arrangement of a paper

- Title
- Authors
- Author's affiliation, address and e-mail address
- Abstract (approximately 300 words)
- Keyword (4-5 words)
- Main text
- Acknowledgement
- References

- Appendix
- Author's biography (within 300 words for each author)
- Figures and tables

4.3 Figures and tables

- Figures and tables should be separated from main text.
- Indicate insertion positions in main text.
- Examples of captions are as follows.

Table 1. Summary of spaceborne passive sensors.

Plate 1. Outlook of the sensor.

4.4 References

All reference papers should be listed in the "References" section in the following styles, and cited in the main text with the superscript notation of their number. The references should be listed in the order of their appearance in the main text. Examples for the listing format are given below.

- 1) T. Tokyo and J. Ohsaka: How to write RSSJ, J. Remote Sens. Soc. Japan, 18(1), pp. 20-27, 1999.
- 2) T. Tokyo (ed.): Handbook of Remote Sensing, RSSJ Publ. Co., Tokyo, 1999.
- 3) J. Osaka: Basic of Remote Sensing Handbook of Remote Sensing, T. Tokyo (ed.), Chap. 2, RSSJ Publ. Co., Tokyo, 1999.
- 4) T. Tokyo, S. Nagoya and J. Osaka: How to study microwave remote sensing, Proc. Inter. Symp. on Remote Sensing, Tokyo, Japan, B-11, pp. 3-13, Feb. 1999.

5. Copyright

Copyright of papers will be transferred to the Remote Sensing Society of Japan after publication.

6. Page charges

Following page charges will be applied.

(1) Member of RSSJ (for the first author)

- No page charges for original papers within 12 pages and original short papers within 6 pages. Page charges for other categories will be decided by the editorial board.
- Over page charge is 10,000-yen per page.
- Color page charge is as follows.
1 page: 40,000-yen/page, 2 pages: 30,000-yen/page, 3 pages: 25,000-yen/page, 4 pages and more: 20,000-yen/page.

(2) Non-member of RSSJ (for the first author)

- Page charge of 5,000-yen/page will be applied for non-member manuscript for original papers within 12 pages and original short papers within 6 pages.
- Over page and color page charges are identical to that for RSSJ members.

7. Submission of manuscripts

Manuscripts should be submitted as hard copies by post to the address below. Send three copies of the manuscript including photocopies with the Submission Form [PDF/Word]. Use of registered mail is recommended.
